UPS strike a downer for some businesses

But most are managing to cope

By ALISON ALOISIO

It's taking a little more effort, but life -- and business -- still goes on in the Bethel area during the nationwide UPS strike. And, some businesspeople are saying, they may stick with the alternative carriers they're currently using even after the United Parcel Service strike ends.

Rick Whitney's Maine Line Products generally does about 80 percent of its mail-order business through UPS. He's now relying more on the U.S. Postal Service and the Maine Delivery Service.

Maine Line Products was current in its shipments when the strike began. The impact, therefore, was not immediate, but will likely increase if UPS is out long-term, Whitney said.

Most of the shipping problems Whitney has encountered come in the form of packages too large for the post office to handle.

When the strike does end, Whitney will remember which carriers expanded their services to try to accommodate him.

"We'll continue to use alternative carriers (after the strike) more than we did before to reward companies that filled our needs," Whitney said.

Asked if he would like to see President Clinton employ the Taft-Hartley Act to end the strike, Whitney said, "The easy answer is to say yes, and make everything right again. But I hate to see the government interfere in private enterprise."

Rick Boucher, owner of Mahoosuc Mountain Sports in Locke Mills, relies on UPS to keep up his stock of bike parts and for orders of specialty items.

Fortunately for him, the cycling

Sewer-survey stakes high

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Hundreds of thousands of dollars in potential savings could be riding on the results of a survey now being completed by users of the Bethel sewer system.

The town is about to undertake a major upgrade of its wastewater treatment plant. The work is expected to cost approximately $1.7 million.

In December 1996 voters approved a basic funding package that called for the town to borrow approximately $770,000 for the work, with the balance to come from grants.

But just how much money is available from grant sources, and what interest rate the town will pay on the loan portion of the package will be determined in part by the results of the survey -- which seeks to identify the median household income of sewer system users.

According to the 1990 census, the median household income in Bethel is approximately $25,000, but town officials suspect that the income of sewer system users -- many of whom are renters -- could be lower.

If that is the case, the town would be eligible for more grant money (that does not need to be repaid) and a lower interest rate on the amount of money that must be borrowed.

Town Manager Phil Tarr said that if the median household income on the sewer system turns out to be in the $21,000 to $22,000 range, the town would be eligible for an additional $200,000 in grant money and an interest rate reduction of from 1/2 to 1 percent.

For the survey to count, the loan administrator requires a 75 percent return rate. Nearly 300 surveys have been distributed. So far 160 -- or 65 short of the 75 percent cutoff -- have been returned.

The deadline for returning the surveys is this Saturday, Aug. 16.

Newry board steps back from placing 911 sign at Step Falls

By ALISON ALOISIO

Citing concerns over aesthetic impact, Newry selectmen Tuesday decided -- at least for now -- against installing an E-911 sign at Step Falls.

Sylvia Gray, the town's administrative assistant, had planned to order a sign for the Nature Conservancy site on Route 26. The Oxford County Sheriff's Department apparently had trouble recently finding Step Falls when they were called to search for someone who had become lost.

As in other towns, Newry has placed E-911 signs on public roads and some longer private roads and fire lanes to aid emergency vehicles in finding residences.

But putting one out on the Nature Conservancy land seemed to go a step too far for selectman Steve Wight.

The use of E-911 signs, he said, was "escalating." He cited one currently in place on a mountain bike trail near Sunday River Ski Resort. It does not lead to a residence.

Putting signs in any area from which a potential emergency call might come, he said, "is looking at it from an urban perspective, and putting it on rural areas. The more

TIME TAKING ITS TOLL
The supports for the bell at the Andover Town Hall need work to prevent the bell from possibly falling through the floor of the belfry and onto the clock. A timber that holds the bell from above is rotten, according to selectman Dick Plantier. The town could build up the crib work underneath the bell to help support it, he said. The clock broke recently and was fixed for a cost of $510. More work is needed, including cleaning and rebuilding the striker.

BENNETT'S BOONDOGGLE BOTTLE--Randy Bennett's Mt. Zircon lunch stand, built in the 1920s, will be donated to the Bethel Historical Society. Along with Bennett, George Haines, Don Katlin and Jewel Clark did much of the restoration. The work was done in the barn of the Hastings Homestead. On Friday, Haines, Arlan Jodrey, Bill Wight, Stan Howe, Peter Rackliffe, Dick Hosterman, Rudy Honkala, Colwyn Haskell and Rodney Howe helped move the bottle stand out through the door. Restored Mt. Zircon lunch stand offers a taste of times past

After 75 years, a Mt. Zircon bottle has finally been recycled, thanks to the talents of several history-minded residents of the Bethel area.

The 15-foot-high, wood and metal version of a spring water bottle -- used as a lunch stand earlier this century -- was restored and put on display this past weekend at Sudbury Canada Days in Bethel.

"It was one of several bottle lunch stands built around 1922 or 1923," said historian Randy Bennett of the Bethel Historical Society. "It was built as part of a very elaborate advertising scheme produced by Mt. Zircon spring water of Rumford."

The stands were built with a wooden framework, and had a galvanized metal skin.

The water, from the Moontide Spring located on Mt. Zircon, was first marketed in 1859, and was sold in the U.S. and Europe. The spring company was eventually sold to the Perrier company in 1989.

The bottle-shaped stand sold both food and drink -- "an early fast-food restaurant," as Bennett describes it. One popular drink sold from the stands during Prohibition was ginger champagne, a dark, strong-tasting ginger ale.

"It was a big seller. The idea of drinking ginger champagne was kind of a nice substitute for alcoholic beverages," Bennett said.

There were a lot of the stands around in the 1920s and '30s, according to Bennett. "They were placed on highways used by tourists. They were very eye-catching -- more so than a sign," he said.

One of the stands was located in Upton, and there likely was one in Bethel, perhaps at the old fair-

Following mishap at town garage

By ALISON ALOISIO

Marshall Meisner, Andover road commissioner, was listed in fair condition at Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston Wednesday, following an accident at the town garage that fractured his pelvis and arm.

Meisner was injured Tuesday when a town truck rolled back onto him while he was working underneath it. The accident happened at about 4 p.m.

Meisner was first taken by Med-Care ambulance to Stephens Memorial Hospital. He was then transferred to Central Maine Medical Center.

Injured Bethel motorcyclist's condition is upgraded

By ALISON ALOISIO

Howard Donahue of Bethel was listed in fair condition Wednesday at Maine Medical Center in Portland, following a Saturday motorcycle accident on Route 2 in Bethel.

Donahue, 61, was traveling east on his Honda 700 when he tried to pass a car driven by Jason Rosenberg, 17, of Woodstock, according to Bethel Police chief Dale Bellman. Rosenberg was preparing to make a left turn on to the Lone Pine Road.

Donahue struck the car on the driver's side. He was thrown over the vehicle, across the road, and landed under the guard rail on the right side of the road.

Donahue received face lacerations when he hit the pavement. He was not wearing a helmet. His injuries might not have been as serious, Bellman said, if he had had head protection. If Donahue had struck the guard rail, he might have been

Highway to be dedicated to fallen flier

On Saturday, Aug. 16, American Legion Mundt-Allen Post 81 and Jackson-Silver Post 68 will host a ceremony honoring Capt. Carl R. Churchill of Bethel, who was killed when his F-4 aircraft was shot down during a combat mission over Laos in 1970.

This ceremony will dedicate that portion of Route 26 between Bethel Village and the Locke Mills town line "The Memorial Carl R. Churchill Memorial Highway," as provided by Maine state legislative resolution L.D. 119 in March of this year.

The guest of honor will be Capt. Churchill's sister, Peggy Churchill Brown.

The ceremony will take place at noon, Aug. 16, on P.H. Chadbourne Co. land adjacent to Route 26 at the intersection of Middle Intervale Road. The public is invited and encouraged to attend.

In case of rain, the ceremony will take place in the Jackson-Silver Post Home, Locke Mills.

COVER PIPELINE OPPONENTS

To the Editor:

I was struck by your lack of coverage of the Aug. 4 meeting of the Town of Bethel Board of Selectmen. At that meeting I did a talk on the proposed gas pipeline. The idea is to run this thing through East Bethel, East Bethel? Yeah, you remember us. We're still part of Bethel, the part filled with family farms and grange halls and people who work hard trying to make their homes look pretty decent. No, I don't need my ego massaged just 'cause I gave a talk. I was just wondering about your sense of what's important. By now I would have assumed that you understand that many of us see the proposed pipeline as a major threat to our safety, health, welfare, and peace of mind. Just minor stuff. Yet, on page 1 of your Aug. 7 issue you publicize some recent buy-up activity of a ski company. That's nice. But what makes you think that a lot of us particularly care about that?

Your lack of coverage concerns me deeply. Why? Because I don't see The Citizen as truly fulfilling its role as a public informant. You could play an important role in providing information. You could go further and editorialize and support your neighbors. But you've seemingly decided not to. Why?

Here are a couple of suggestions:

1) Interview me. I think I could make it at least as interesting as buy-up action.

2) Call for and sponsor a special Town Meeting on this issue. Who knows, maybe some PNGTS reps would show up and pound on tables (one of them did that during a home visit to a Windham opponent).

3) Inform people that there is a rapidly developing region-wide opposition to major links of the proposed route.

4) Develop a series called "Pipeline Follies." Fill it with factoids like this one: the former V.P. of a major gas company, now a V.P. at TransCanada (part of PNGTS) did six months' house arrest for environmental damage, cover-up, and assorted odds and ends.

5) Sponsor a cable show on the meaning of democracy and local control. Especially when a federal agency and state government happily hold hands while ramming something down people's throats.

As a vehicle for all elements of the community, keep in mind that silence is the ultimate denial.

Roger S. Zimmerman
East Bethel

Editor's reply: We thank Dr. Zimmerman for his editorial suggestions. But we believe the concerns of the pipeline opponents have been more than adequately publicized in The Citizen -- both in front page news coverage and on our letters-to-the-editor page. For example, when Dr. Zimmerman first aired his own concerns publicly -- at a March meeting of the Bethel Planning Board -- they were our lead story (top of the front page) the following week. That story followed by less than a month another front-page story that described the fears of pipeline gutter Wally Hannigan (and which included a sidebar describing the effects of the pipeline explosions in Washington state). With ongoing controversies such as the pipeline project or the Passamaquoddy bingo proposal we strive to keep our readers up to date on pertinent developments, but we also strive not to inflict the Chinese water torture of having the same story ("Opponents object ...") dribbled out week after week. Dr. Zimmerman's recent comments at the selectmen's meeting, while vehement, differed little in substance from his earlier comments to the Planning Board. As it happens, and as we reported last week, the Bethel selectmen have workshops scheduled for Monday, Aug. 18 on both the pipeline and bingo proposals. The workshops should be an excellent opportunity to revisit both issues, and apprise our readers of any newsworthy developments.

IT'S THEIR ARGUMENTS THAT ARE LAUGHABLE

To the Editor:

When confronted with facts that do not support his views, Lt. Gov. Altwater of the Passamaquoddy Tribe resorts to personal attacks on me and the residents of Albany Township. His misleading letter in the Aug. 1 issue implies that we mocked the plight of the tribe at our public meeting in May; this is utterly false. In fact, I expressed my concern and empathy for the injustices suffered by the tribe; however, that is not the issue. The issue is whether the proposed gambling hall meets all the requirements of the Maine Land Use Regulation Commission. Clearly it does not, and that is why Mr. Altwater in his many speeches and letters to editors constantly plays his one-note song about the victimization of the tribe and personally attacks those who rightly oppose him with hard facts.

The laughter that so offended Mr. Altwater resulted from my simply reading aloud portions of his rezoning application, verbatim. For example, LURC requires proof that the proposed gambling hall, "fits harmoniously with existing uses" in the community. The developers' list of existing uses includes an abandoned sand pile, which they represent as an industrial gravel pit; "Gordon's Tire Barn," a dump which the DEP has ordered to be shut down; the "Songo Aqua Mine," a tiny hole in the ground whose prominent feature is a "Beware of the Dog" sign; and the Portland Pipeline, underground pipes whose visible surface is overgrown pasture. This is typical of the application. That was what the laughter was about: the representations in the application were absurd.

This proposal threatens to destroy the qualities that make Albany as precious to us as the reservation is to the Passamaquoddy Tribe. The developers would put their septic system, for one example, directly in the floodplain of the Crooked River, and pollute a Class A protected salmon fishery in an "at-risk watershed" of the Sebago Lake drinking water system. Mr. Altwater hides the facts from the public and from the tribe members: this proposal is an ill-advised, ill-planned, and deceptive effort to exploit Albany Township and wrong for our community and for the Passamaquoddy Tribe.

NOTHING TO FEAR

To the Editor:

This letter is to express support of the proposed High Stakes Bingo facility that is being planned by the Passamaquoddy Tribe.

At the outset, opponents of this proposal were orchestrating their concerns against this project by saying that it would adversely affect their lives, pollute the Crooked River, not allow them to see the stars, ruin the roads, pollute the air, make horse riding impossible, and last but not least championing the "Not In My Back Yard" syndrome.

Now for the "new" twist. It appears that the opposition to this project had focused their efforts in trying to frighten themselves and others into believing that this bingo hall is just a precursor of the soon-to-come casino. Well, ladies and gentlemen, I think that the fear mongers are way off the mark. For any casino to be viable it needs to be in a densely populated area where the infrastructure, such as being in close proximity to a major airport, exists. It would also require more than the approximately eight acres of developable property that is now available on Tribal trust land. Albany Township has none of these, and any further expansion of Tribal trust land has to be approved by the Maine legislature. Those are the facts, this is the truth, and unless you are afraid of the truth (as some people are), you need fear nothing.

Lt. Gov. William (Eric) Altwater,
Passamaquoddy Tribe

AN INVITATION TO DISASTER

To the Editor:

In response to Passamaquoddy Tribe chief Altwater's letter of Aug. 7, I would like to point out that the Albany residents who object to the proposed High Stakes Bingo Hall live near the proposed site. They have seen it flood, have seen the Crooked River rise over the road in front of the site, and have seen it rise further over the bridges to the site. They know that building on that site is an open invitation to personal and environmental disaster.

Although one of the best engineering firms in the state prepared the plans, they did not buy the land. The Passamaquoddy should seek legal recourse, if they were not made aware before the purchase, that the land floods.

MISS SUE BEHIND THE SCENES

To the Editor:

This is to clarify the many questions asked about what is going to happen to Spring Street Dance Theater. Yes, we will be starting classes as usual the week of Sept. 8. Watch for registration time.

We have four excellent teachers in all phases of dance: baby, kinder, combo, pointe, ballet, tap, jazz, acro, clogging.

We are looking forward to a season filled with fun and learning in our state-of-the-art studio.

So come, ask questions, and meet our teachers. We welcome all of you.

As for me, I will be working "behind the scenes" with the teachers preparing schedules, keeping in touch with the students' progress and selecting the spring production for the 1998 season.

FIGHT CORPORATE WELFARE

To the Editor:

If you were one of the many people in Maine who were outraged that the Legislature would give Bath Iron Works and their owner, General Dynamics, a $60 million tax break over the next 20 years, there is something you can do about it. Volunteer to collect 25 signatures from people in your town for Jan Anderson's People's Veto petition drive. If we are successful in collecting more than 52,000 signatures from registered voters by the end of August, the issue will go to a vote of the people, and we can take longer to discuss whether BIW really needs this tax break. As you may know, BIW also expects to receive an $81 million property tax break from the City of Bath and a $53 million equipment tax rebate from the state.

I believe that the $60 million tax break the Legislature granted to Bath Iron Works qualified as corporate welfare. Considering that General Dynamics made a profit of $270 in 1996 and an $80 million profit in the last quarter, and paid their CEO, James Mellor, over $11 million last year, I don't believe BIW needs this tax break. Put together with the equipment and property tax breaks, it works out to almost $10 million each year for 20 years. Just think: CEO James Mellor could pay for all those taxes himself and still make over $1 million a year.

I understand that the Legislature and Gov. King felt pressured to give BIW this tax break. What if they had said no and General Dynamics closed down BIW? The reason for the tax break is to encourage BIW to upgrade the facility and preserve jobs. But according to the language of the law BIW can reduce their work force to 3,500 by January 2003 and still receive the tax break. That is less than half their current work force of about 7,200.

Should the other Maine taxpayers, you and me and businesses large and small, pay more so that a wealthy corporation like General Dynamics can get a tax break they don't need? I don't think so, and so I am helping Jan Anderson with her petition drive for a People's Veto, and I hope you will help, too. We need people collecting signatures all over the state to reach our goal by the end of August. General Dynamics hires people to go talk to the legislators and governor. If we want to stop this we need to volunteer to do it. If you are willing to spend a couple of hours collecting signatures in your town, or even if you just want to sign the petition, please call me at 338-1265 or Jan Anderson at 338-1429. Time is very short. Please help.

Tips from the Boating and water quality. Boaters can help maintain water quality in our lakes by not spilling gas on the ground or into the lakes and by fixing gas or oil leaks promptly. Gas and oil contribute to phosphorus buildup.

When boating, steer clear of shallow, weedy areas. Propeller disturbance stirs up the sediments, releasing phosphorus into the water and may reduce habitat for fish and young animals. If you have to go through a shallow area, go slowly.

Support Great Ponds legislation

WOODSTOCK--The Community Lakes Association is urging members and other citizens concerned about improving water quality, safety of wildlife and noise level of water craft to contact their state representatives in support of great ponds legislation. The legislation, which would put in place requirements in support of those goals, is scheduled to be introduced in the Maine Legislature in January. The bill implements the recommendations of the Great Ponds Task Force. The legislation was discussed at the CLA's annual meeting with state Rep. Linda McKee of Wayne. Some who sell jet skis are already spending a great deal of time and money to defeat the bill, according to the association.

One more time in Region 9

RUMFORD--The Region 9 School of Applied Technology will hold its third budget vote tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m. at Mountain Valley High School. Voters from SAD44, SAD43 and other Region 9 towns narrowly approved the budget in an open meeting July 30. But because of a procedural error in the signing of the warrant for that meeting, it must be held again. The proposed budget will be the same one presented at the July meeting.

Transfer station license expected

GREENWOOD--Licensing of the Greenwood & Woodstock Transfer Station on Route 26, for brown goods, white goods and used tires, is expected to be completed within 30 days, according to Marie Bartlett, chair of the Board of Selectmen. The license will allow the stump dump in Greenwood City to be relocated to the Locke Mills station. There will still be a burn pit for clean wood and brush at the Greenwood City site. Each town has approved its share of the $43,000 project.

Watershed meeting is Wednesday

NEWRY--A meeting of landowners and other people interested in the welfare of the Sunday River watershed is scheduled for Aug. 20 at 7 p.m. at the Sunday River Inn. The gathering is sponsored by the Oxford County Soil and Water Conservation District. Its purpose is to organize a study of the needs of the watershed and then address those needs through specific actions, such as applying for grant money to aid in setting up erosion control measures. For more information call Jim Chandler at OCSWCD (207-743-7019).

Agreement reached on groomer loan

ANDOVER--Selectmen Tuesday voted to charge the Snow Valley Sno-Goes an interest rate of 1 percent on a $19,500 loan approved for the snowmobile club by voters recently. The money will be used to purchase a trail groomer. The loan will be paid back over a five-year period in $3,900 installments. The club is applying for an $8,310 grant through a program of the Bureau of Parks and Recreation Snowmobile Trail Fund to help with the purchase. If the club is denied funding, it will relinquish up to 75 percent of money received annually for snowmobile registrations to pay back the loan. The state snowmobile refund money is generally transferred to the club by a vote at the annual Town Meeting, and is used for trail maintenance.

AWD well looks good

ANDOVER--The Andover Water District last week received final conditional approval for a well on the Ricker property. The quality of the water appears to be so good, said trustee Anne Glazier, that "we may not actually need chlorination when the system is completed." The quantity of water available from the well has also been shown to be more than sufficient, according to geologist Ricky Pershken of A.E. Hodsdon Consulting Engineers. The estimated 500 gallons per minute safe yield exceeds the expected use of 100 to 200 GPM, Pershken said. He also said the well should be able to produce that yield without drawing gasoline contamination from a known source about 1,000 feet away. Hodsdon will also recommend that AWD petition the Maine Department of Environmental Protection to get the contamination cleaned up.

Town report in the works

GREENWOOD--The Greenwood town report for 1996 should be ready to go to the printers by the end of this week, according to first selectman Marie Bartlett. The full report was not ready in time for this year's annual Town Meeting, due to the extensive audit undertaken following the resignation and subsequent indictment of former Town Manager Liz Lavalette. The report, which will include the audit report, town meeting warrant and list of taxpayers, should be ready for mailing by early September, Bartlett said.

Visitor center ceremony Aug. 27

BETHEL--The grand opening of the Maine Publicity Bureau Visitor Information Center will take place Aug. 27, from 12 noon to 5 p.m. A ribbon-cutting ceremony with Rep. John Baldacci is scheduled for 1 p.m. There will be refreshments and door prizes. The center, located at the U.S. Forestry Service building on Route 2, has been operating since July 1. David Lane is the manager, assisted by travel counselors Lori Swain, Esther Wilson and Dawn Seames.

Mousetrap's fame is growing

HANOVER--The Maine Mouse-ah mousetrap, invented in Hanover last year, has gone international. It was featured in an article in the Canadian Magazine Cottage Life. The article will be sent to more than 70,000 magazine subscribers. The trap was also featured in the March issue of Outdoor Life, a U.S. sporting magazine. The trap features a device that allows it to be left unattended for months, while still catching mice. The Mouse-ah was invented by John Hanawalt, Jeff Watts and Roger Robin.

Cyclists: watch out in August

AUGUSTA--August is the worst month for bicycle accidents in Maine, and safety officials are urging bicyclists and motorists to look out for each other and be aware of common safety rules. Over the past nine years, there have been 607 accidents during the month of August, according to Richard Perkins, director of the Maine Bureau of Highway Safety. That figure is 20 percent of the total number of 3,018 bicycle accidents between 1988 and 1996. That includes 25 fatalities. August is the busiest time on Maine roadways for both cars and bikes, Perkins said. Cyclists are urged to wear helmets and highly visible clothing. They should ride single file and as far to the right as practicable. For further information on bicycle safety, contact the Bureau of Highway Safety, State House Station #164, Augusta, 04333.

Loon platers to be recognized

AUGUSTA--To thank motorists for supporting conservation efforts, the departments of Conservation and Inland Fisheries and Wildlife are hosting the first annual "Loon Plate Thank You Days" the weekend of Aug. 16 and 17. For all motorists with valid loon plates, free day-use admission to Maine's state parks and historic sites will be offered. Free admission to the game farm in Gray will also be offered on the 17th. More than 95,000 Maine cars have the plates. Since the Legislature created the Loon Plate Fund in 1993, the two departments have received more than $3.6 million. Designed to supplement state agency budgets, loon plate income funds hundreds of major and minor repairs in parks and historic sites, and the protection and management of non-game species. Plate funds were used in the replacement of the Old Speck Observation Tower at Grafton Notch State Park.

Sugarbush gives trail easement

FAYSTON, Vt.--Sugarbush Resort handed the Green Mountain Club its biggest gift ever Monday -- an easement that will save two miles of the Long Trail from development. Leslie Otten, president of the American Skiing Co., signed over the development rights on a section of ski area property that runs along the spine of the Green Mountains. The rights now belong to the Green Mountain Club, a nonprofit organization that maintains the hiking trail between the Massachusetts and Canadian borders. The club has now protected 46 miles of the Long Trail.

From the

Bethel Town Office

The door-to-door pick-up of the Sewer/Maine Rural Water Surveys is moving along. We are still collecting and are at the halfway point. It is critical that we receive as much feedback as possible. The following are some questions folks are asking.

I never got a survey (really, I lost it); where is mine?

The surveys were mailed only to sewer users. Owners who live at said properties were mailed surveys. We hand-delivered to renters. You may have been missed. Please let us know if you need a replacement.

Do you really have to do it?

It is hoped that you will. The loan administrator requires a 75-percent survey return. We have collected 160 out of almost 300. There have been only four refusals. It is your right as a red-blooded American to not participate.

Why does the survey ask how much money I make?

The town will have to borrow about $2 million to upgrade the treatment facility. Grants and loans will be based on the 1990 Census which reports the median income for all Bethel residents. The census does not reflect the median income of the benefited users today.

Is this really confidential?

Absolutely. As a matter of fact, the survey will be accepted only if it is sealed.

When is the last pick-up?

Aug. 16 at the latest.

In closing, I would like to mention that other Maine communities have successfully qualified for grants and lower interest rates based on their surveyed results. Also, the town was advised to facilitate the survey based on the known demographics in the village. It is now up to you, the benefited users, to participate. If you have any questions, please call the Town Office.

From the Bethel Police log:

Midwest hitchhikers find shelter

On Aug. 11 at 8:40 p.m. the Oxford County Sheriff's Department advised of two subjects hitchhiking from the Midwest to northern Maine. They were located on Route 2 in Bethel. They were out of money and food, and needed shelter for the evening. The Rumford shelter was contacted and agreed to take them. They were transported to Rumford Point and turned over to a Rumford officer.

Saturday, Aug. 9

At 2:09 a.m. a caller reported two subjects were involved in a heated verbal dispute in a neighboring residence. On arrival police spoke with both parties, and they said nothing else would happen. They were advised that if another complaint was received, criminal charges would be filed. Both said they had settled their differences. No further complaints were received.

Sunday, Aug. 10

At 12:35 p.m. a local business manager reported a person or persons had apparently remained on the premises after closing and had stolen about $56 worth of items. The case is under investigation.

At 6:50 p.m. police received a be-on-the-lookout from the Gorham, N.H. Police Department for a possible intoxicated driver on Route 2 heading toward Bethel. The vehicle was reported to have two male occupants. No contact was made.

At 1:10 a.m. a caller reported a very intoxicated subject behind a Bethel village business. On arrival the officer determined the subject was staying at a local inn. He was walked to his room and left in the care of others in his party.

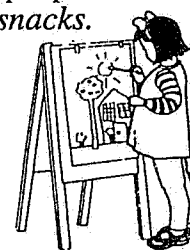

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies. An answering machine takes calls when an officer is not in the office.

UPS

season is nearing an end and he's not ordering as much.

"If it had been in June or July it would have killed me," he said.

When he does order, he uses the post office (a package from California cost about three times the UPS rates, he said) or Roadway Package Service.

Deliveries are also slower. "The postal service is slow unless you pay the high rate -- and you can't pass that on to consumers," he said.

Similarly to Whitney, Boucher plans to encourage his suppliers to use alternative carriers even after the strike, to get away from being too dependent on one company.

As for UPS, Boucher thinks the company should have worked its labor problems out to avoid the strike. "It shouldn't have come to this," he said.

On the other hand, he's not very sympathetic with the teamster drivers.

"Lots of people would love to have that job," he said.

The drivers are reportedly asking for a five-year contract that would give full-time employees a .30 cent-per-hour raise for each of the next five years, resulting in wages of $21.50 an hour in 2002. Part-time employees would get a .50 cent-an-hour raise each year, giving them $13.50 in five years.

Shannon Couture of Kelley's Auto Parts in Bethel said his business is getting along all right, thanks mostly to NAPA's delivery system, which employs its own trucks.

Special car parts orders -- for which Kelley's relies on UPS -- are the only problem.

He said special orders that used to come overnight from Connecticut now take three days on a NAPA truck.

Sunday River Ski Resort is feeling both direct and ripple effects of the strike. "It has affected us negatively," said spokesman Mike Bertie. "We're trying to work through the postal service."

Sunday River has also typically sent 18 to 20 packages a day through Federal Express. "They're limiting us to 11 now, and that has further cramped us. We're having to decide between packages," he said.

Then there's the Town Office in Bethel. Town clerk Christen Mason ordered $600 worth of office supplies early last week -- usually an overnight UPS delivery. Some arrived Monday, but the others had still not arrived Wednesday.

Nine boxes of computer paper did arrive through the postal service last week, delivered in three days.

There are other offices virtually unaffected by the strike. The Woodstock Town Office used UPS very little anyway, buying most supplies locally, according to deputy clerk Betty Benner.

The Bethel Family Health Center also uses the Maine Delivery Service a lot, and is part of a network specifically set up for medical supplies, according to spokesman Christine Molloy.

As for the post office, Bethel is seeing a package business roughly comparable to Christmas-time volume, according to USPS spokesman Bob Cannon.

"It's not causing a major difference," said Cannon. It has not meant extra work hours for carriers, he said.

The USPS is making special arrangements for businesses sending five or more pieces at once by parcel post or priority mail. They are asked to call 1-800-485-8727 to make an appointment to bring packages to either a post office or a mail processing center, Cannon said.

How is the Recreation Fee Program doing?

This seems to be the question on everyone's tongue. Is it accepted, are people happy, are they purchasing passports?

Well, the question doesn't have an easy answer. To some, the program is a great success, one that is long overdue. Others view it as an infringement of their rights, and undue taxation. The answer is somewhere in the middle.

Thousands of visitors are supporting the program by purchasing a passport. Money collected as of the end of July is just under $131,000 (earlier reports were based on numbers of passes sold and many of them were $5, so the total was incorrect).

We are learning much about the pro's and con's of the program, as we expected to in the first year. We're hearing kudos from avid recreationists that are excited about keeping the money here on the Forest, and we're hearing criticism from many that believe the Forest should be supported out of existing tax dollars.

We ask that folks remember that this is a trial program, that it will evolve over the next three years, and that we really are listening to what is being said. When we started the program, we said that we would use monitoring information from the first year to make changes in the second. Well, we've heard a couple of comments over and over, and have decided to address the problems now instead of waiting until the end of the first season.

The first was to remove fee signs from scenic overlooks. Although some people use the areas to park as they explore the Forest, most are parking there to use the restroom or take a photo. This type of use does not require a fee.

The second was an issue that surprisingly did not come to our attention until the program started. Many people want to have the flexibility of "spotting" a car at each end of a trail. The current system, while allowing for two vehicles per family, does not allow a person to use both cars for the same trip. We will now be offering a "package" that will be available only from Forest Service offices. You can purchase an annual pass for $20, and for another $5 purchase a second annual pass. Each pass will then be good for one of a person's cars. If a person has already purchased a pass, and wants to have the ability to spot a vehicle, stop in one of the White Mountain offices and get help.

Other hard-hitting questions relate to parking lots and shoulders of state highways. Where can we charge and why aren't we charging at all of them. Well, the program is set up to charge for unattended vehicles on National Forest land, including roadsides. Some state highways are located on National Forest land and hold a right of way or an easement allowing them to place and maintain a highway. However, in most cases the actual land is owned by the White Mountain National Forest, thus it is appropriate for us to charge a fee. Some trailhead lots are on private lands that we only have an easement for, some are on state land and we are unable to charge a fee at those locations. We are continuing to explore ways to clarify this situation.

The positive impact of the program this year is that we were able to hire 39 people to provide services to visitors: eight are working behind front desks, answering telephone calls, filling information requests, and helping plan trips; eleven are working in day-use and picnic areas cleaning toilets and picking up trash; nine are patrolling trails and Forest Protection Areas; and eleven are working on trail crews.

These last two groups are cleaning and maintaining trails and assisting hikers as they look for low-impact campsites.

Most of these folks come from and live in local communities.

An example of work accomplished this year comes from the Saco Ranger District. The district contains 360 miles of trail. All of the trails have received level one maintenance this year, including trails cooperators trails. This means crews funded by the fee demo program were able to check for and remove blowdowns, maintain and repair waterbars, replace or repair signs, and do sidebrushing. This work has been done ahead of schedule. It wouldn't have been accomplished this year if not for the program because Saco wouldn't have been able to hire a trail crew. They are currently planning the work needed for winter trail maintenance. It will include improving or modifying several bridges used by hikers, mountain bikers, and cross-country skiers.

If the current support for the recreation program here on the White Mountain continues, we will be able to continue these services and will also be able to start work on the list of projects we're faced with. These include trail maintenance and reconstruction, new toilet facilities, and publications.

signs you put up, the more people want."

He also said the Step Falls parking lot can be seen from the road. Selectman Wendy Hanscom agreed. "They didn't mark the Letter S or the Deep Hole (swimming areas)," she said.

Wight also objected to the choice for the sign's label -- "Step Falls Park." The term "park" came from state guidelines on naming, Gray said. She consulted with Newry E-911 director Mike Lynch on the name.

But, said Wight, that would set up an expectation of restroom facilities, trash cans and the like, which are not offered on the site.

The selectmen agreed that before any decisions were made to place signs at sites like Step Falls in the future, they should review and possibly reword their overall E-911 guidelines.

Gray said she would cancel the order. Her decision to place it, she said, "was made in good faith. We were concerned about people getting hurt and getting lost."

Greenwood ACO resigns; Everett Chase appointed

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Greenwood animal control officer Marsha McKenna resigned last week, only one day after being reappointed by the Board of Selectmen.

At its meeting Tuesday the board appointed Everett Chase of Rumford Center to take McKenna's place.

McKenna's resignation was the result of a dispute over published comments by first selectman Marie Bartlett, in which Bartlett said a number of residents had complained of the ACO's unavailability.

At last week's selectmen's meeting, McKenna demanded a formal apology, arguing that the complaints were unfounded.

Bartlett refused, and the selectmen called an executive session to discuss the dispute.

Following that session, McKenna was reappointed, but she left still displeased with the situation, and the following day wrote a letter of resignation.

"After our meeting," she wrote, "it is very apparent to me that the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, Marie Bartlett, did not take seriously the strong feelings that I had regarding her representation as true facts, the false and erroneous information that questioned my performance as animal control officer in Greenwood. ..."

"It is apparent to me that I am thought of as an outsider and that this situation will persist and therefore I must reluctantly resign my position as ACO for the town of Greenwood, effective immediately."

Bartlett said she was "totally surprised after how we left it last week."

Chase appointed

At this week's meeting, the board wasted little time in replacing McKenna. Following a presentation by Everett Chase of Rumford Center, the board voted to appoint him to fill the position for the remainder of the year.

Chase, who grew up in Greenwood, is currently ACO for Dixfield, Mexico and Hanover.

He offered his services to Greenwood for $1,200 a year, or for $5.50 an hour plus mileage.

The selectmen opted for the flat fee (pro-rated for the remainder of the current year).

Chase said the arrangement included 24-hours-a-day coverage for all domestic animals.

For wildlife, he said, the homeowner pays when it is simply a nuisance animal call, but when rabies is suspected the town is billed.

He said he would also bury animals that have been killed or disposed of, rather than have them cremated.

Cremation, he noted, cost $1 a pound, and having the carcasses buried instead, "saves the town much money."

"If I am hired, I guarantee you'll be pleased," he told the selectmen. Following brief discussion, the board voted unanimously to do so.

Telstar field hockey practice

The Telstar High School Field Hockey program will begin practice on Monday evening, Aug. 18. Practice will be held nightly on the THS field hockey field, from 5:30 until 8 p.m. the week of Aug. 18. All individuals are reminded that their physical exam status must be up to date in order to participate. Players with any questions should contact Gail Wight, head coach, at either 824-2136 or 824-2497.

Twenty-one players have returned from a week of intense field hockey practice at Castleton State College in Vermont at a training camp sponsored by Merestead Sports. Attending were seniors: Michelle McInnis and Hanna Seames; juniors: Stacey Bachelor, Angie Buker, Malinda Gilbert, Jamie Grover, Jamie Johnson, Staci Littlehale, Maryanne Lowe, Erin Osgood, Emily Phillips, Erin Riley; sophomores: Gail Aloisio, Abbie Bean, Erin Dennis, Erica Gundersen, Samantha Mullen, Lacy Phillips, Heather Roderick; Freshmen: Stephanie Gavett and Marianne Nadeau.

The field hockey team will participate in a state-wide play-day on Saturday, Aug. 23, at Mesalonskee High School.

Bottle

grounds in Mayville, he said. The stands were known to turn up at other fairsgrounds.

Saving an artifact

Bennett first found his stand about 20 years ago at a campground near Crawford Notch, N.H. It was partially hidden, sitting among some trees. "It looked like they were using it for storage," he said.

Interested in the historic value, Bennett purchased it. "It's old enough to go on the National Register (of Historic Places). There are very few still remaining," he said. "Today they're recognized as an architectural and structural form. Several museums have them."

Bennett never got around to bringing the stand back to Bethel, however, as he was busy with other projects. He sold it to a Bryant Pond antique dealer, and it later ended up in East Poland.

Bennett bought it back in 1995, and stored it in the barn at the Hastings House. About a year ago, he and others started work to restore it. Some wooden parts, like the floor and door, were replaced, and dents in the metal were straightened.

Last week, artists Don Katlin and Jewel Clark repainted the lettering on the bottle.

"Bennett's Boondoggle," resident Walter Hatch dubbed it jokingly for a while, as there seemed to be doubt whether the restored bottle was too large to be moved out of the barn.

But volunteers eventually squeezed it through a door, and it was set up on the lawn of the Hastings Homestead in Bethel for display at Sudbury Canada Days.

It was a hit. "People could hardly resist going into it, even though it was on private property," said Bennett. The children absolutely loved it. They'd haul their parents in."

Bennett plans to donate the stand to the Bethel Historical Society.

HEADS-UP—Local youngsters polished their ball-handling skills last week during the 1997 White Mountain Soccer Camp. The lazy days of summer will be ending soon -- school starts Tuesday, Aug. 26.

Bethel

by Arlene Brown & Ginny Keniston

Sympathy is extended to the family of Arthur Head, who passed away Saturday, Aug. 9, while attending a birthday celebration in his honor at a cottage on Lake Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Enman and daughter, Mary, of Yulee, Fla., Gerry and Joe Steele of Seabrook, Shelly and Shaine Witham of Augusta were guests of Mrs. Eva Perry and Mrs. Edith Rowe recently.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Stevens on Friday were Mitchell Parker, daughter Tanya and friend Stacey of Milford, Conn., Arnold and Mary McLean and grandson Tyler of Lewiston.

Mr. and Mrs. Earlon (Bud) Paine, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bodwell and Mandy, Mrs. Roland Glines, Heidi and Kevin joined relatives from Florida, Hanover, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Auburn, North Turner, Texas, Connecticut, Bangor, Verona and Bucksport for the R.L. Glines 36th Reunion. This was held at the summer camp of Jay and April Perkins in Bucksport. A beautiful buffet was served with addition of steamed clams. Swimming, talking and other activities were enjoyed. Berk McLaughlin entertained all that stayed over for breakfast on Sunday.

The concerts at the Gazebo on the Common on Sundays are wonderful. Bethel people are so lucky to have such high quality entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brown and Mrs. Don Brown visited Anne and Pete Dunbar at their new home in Auburn over the weekend.

Mrs. Kathryn Bohr and son Noah Goldberg-Bohr of Storrs, Conn., visited Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bohr for a long weekend. Daughter Gretchen and Richard Courage and son Stephen of Brooklyn, N.Y., are guests this week. Stephen has been attending Camp Winona.

Telstar High School Class of 1972 enjoyed a successful 25th reunion with a large turnout at the Backstage Restaurant on Saturday, Aug. 9. Sunday supper guests of Mrs. Don Brown were George, Danna, Kate Nickerson, Clint Wakefield, all of Bethel, and Kurt and Tammy Brown of Windham.

Mrs. Herbert Glover of Hebron and Hope Lane, Mt. Doro, Fla. (formerly of Stoneham) visited Mrs. Evelyn Nickerson one afternoon recently.

Jewel Clark joined her father, Yodeling Slim Clark, and her brother with his band to perform at a Country Festival at Farmington on the weekend.

Dr. Stephen Dock and his wife, Dr. Carolyn Wilson, of Greenville, N.C., have been recent guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dock.

Seth and Emily Bailey of Ipswich, Mass., have been visiting their grandparents, Honey and Timor Bailey.

The lecture by Dr. James Leamon of Bates College at the Moses Mason House Friday evening was well attended. Dr. Leamon gave a very interesting talk on the Militia in Maine during the Revolution.

Bud and Lois Leavitt of Gorham, N.H., are enjoying the summer at their cottage on Songo Pond.

The lower athletic fields at Gould Academy (Barr and Bowhay) are receiving extensive regrading through the generosity of the Barr Family.

Arlene Lyon of Portland spent the weekend with Rebecca Kendall and attended Sudbury Canada Days. She also visited with several friends and relatives in the area.

Karen Mohr, Josh and Alex of Portland are visiting her parents, Leland and Barbara Brown.

McKenzie Pooley is spending two weeks with her grandmother, Bonnie Pooley, while her parents, Ken and Nina Pooley, are in France doing research.

Howard Donahue was admitted to Maine Medical Center after sustaining serious injuries in a motorcycle accident at the entrance of Lone Pine Road, Bethel, over the weekend.

Correction: An item in last week's column stated "Barry York and Marie Mills and family of Burnt Hills, N.Y., spent two weeks camping at Twitchell Pond and visiting relatives in the area." This should have read Barry and Marie Mills York ...

The Bethel House

Recent visitors of Irene Russell were Tom and Gayle Russell, Nancy Chadbourne, Judy Gagnon and daughter Nicole, annd Margaret Quinlan.

Jean Palanza, manager of the Bethel House, was in town calling on residents on Aug. 4.

East Bethel

by Nancy Mercer

East Bethel Church will have a service on Aug. 24 at 2 p.m., with the Rev. Norman Rust officiating. This will be the last service for the summer.

Alder River Grange will have a yard sale on Aug. 16, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. At 5 p.m. that night there will be a chicken barbecue supper with beans, casseroles and salads. Adults will be $5 and children 12 and under will be $2.50.

If anyone has items to donate to Concerned Neighbors Against the Pipeline, please call Wally Hannigan at 824-3220 or Nancy Mercer at 824-3350, or bring them to the Grange Hall on Aug. 16. We will have a table at the annual Grange yard sale.

Jack and Lucy Nordahl were at Chesuncook, the Gateway to the Allagash. They had a real nice vacation even though the truck had a flat.

Gertrude Hinkley's son-in-law, Jeff Wells, broke his ankle in three places when a tree hit him.

Florence Hastings returned, on Aug. 9 from three weeks at the Bancroft camp on Sebago Lake and the Morion camp on Tucky Pond. One of the weeks was Women's Week -- no men allowed. Ann Morton's children and one grandchild were there. Ginny Gamble of Hanover, N.H., was there and Mary Alice Bancroft, all with children and grandchildren. All had a good time.

Arlene Harrington took Whitney Hillman home on Aug. 8.

Arlene Harrington will be hosting the Remington-Harrington Reunion on Aug. 17 at her home.

The Bethel selectmen really don't seem to care overly much about the people of East Bethel. At the selectmen's meeting on Aug. 4, Concerned Neighbors Against the Pipeline were told they could speak. Clare Pawlock, Roger Zimmerman and Wally Hannigan went to the meeting. Roger Zimmerman was allowed to speak for a few minutes. There will be a workshop meeting on Aug. 18, at 6 p.m. for CNAP to tell their concerns to the selectmen and pass on information about pipeline explosions.

West Bethel

by Karen Jordan

Remember the Maytag advertisements highlighting the bored repairman who never went out on calls because the machines just don't break? Well, it's true what they said about Maytags. I have owned one for over 15 years and only once did the serviceman have to be called. When he arrived he predicted that the reason for trouble would be a sock, and he was right. The little sock somehow got itself lodged between the two tubs and bound up the whole works. Recently, my faithful Maytag has been leaking and I (like many others) chose to ignore the problem until one day last week I noticed a beautiful golden-colored mushroom growing on the wall adjacent to my washing machine. For an instant I was tempted to start a new venture growing shrooms for all the Shop 'n Saves in Maine, but common sense took over and I decided this was the day to tackle the nasty leak which had plagued the whole family for months.

My neighbor and longtime acquaintance, Mellen Kimball, came to mind. I rang him up on the telly and asked if he was fully retired or if he could point me in a direction for help in fixing the darn machine. I described the problem and Mellen thought he knew just where the leak was. With my handy portable phone scrunched between shoulder and ear, I found a Phillips screwdriver. After some time, I located the two screws at the bottom front of the machine and removed them. Mellen was so helpful and patient as he talked me through the process by which I would remove the front panel exposing motor, hoses and all the other inner workings of the machine. After I removed two more screws from the inside top corners, I was able to tip the hinged top of the machine up to expose the problem. My description was right on and Mellen was, too. A U-shaped hose which connects the incoming water supply to the metal tub had worn thin and was no longer making a good seal allowing water to leak and run on top of the tub rather than into it. I thanked Mellen and hung up triumphant and immediately thought of Jack and Jeri Brooks down at Brooks Brothers, who can always help with the myriad of household repairs and fix 'em-ups. I told Jeri about my Maytag, and she thought I should talk to Jack about parts and the like. Jack listened intently, found my number in his catalog and ordered the part. He mentioned there would most probably be a delay on account of UPS being on strike. I'm so glad I live in a small town where advice is free. If it were not for Mellen and Jack, I might have spent $50 to $100 to repair my washer. The total cost for the part from Brooks Brothers was less than $10.

Don and I headed to Pat's Pizza for dinner, and who was sitting in "our" booth but my Aunt Musa and my cousins Laurie and Becky. Laurie's husband, Bob Hickey, was there, too, but I couldn't decide how to best fit them all into one sentence. They were almost finished eating when we arrived, so rather than try to fix six into a little booth (we knew we would be welcome), we chose another location and ordered our meal. Before our meal arrived Bob and Laurie came and sat with us. They invited us to come over and visit at their camp in Shelburne, N.H. Don hadn't seen their camp and it had been a few years (eight or nine) since I had visited. Fortunately, Bob walked out to meet us as we were driving by, or I fear we would have been lost in some foreign gravel pit for the night. We had a wonderful visit telling stories, looking at pics of their grandchildren and catching up on what Karen and Heather are doing. Karen graduated from college in '94 and is married, in a new house and works for Bob at his business, Key Sign Company, in Millis, Mass. Heather is a junior at Bradford College in Haverhill, Mass., working on a creative writing major.

I don't know the name of the team, but the little girls' team is number one so far (my granddaughter told me). Karen Rosenberg is coach. Congratulations, team.

Mary McMillin called on her aunts, Edith Hathaway and Beatrice Farnum, Wednesday.

Supper guests of Beatrice Farnum on Wednesday were Carl and Eleanor Brown, Duxbury, Mass.

Mike and Penny Hathaway were weekend guests of Barbara Hathaway and attended the Morgan reunion held at Gordon Morgan's.

Recently, Esther Bailey spent two weeks' vacation with her sister, Becky Keen. While here they attended several cookouts with family and friends. They spent one weekend camping and sightseeing in Caratunk and the area, two days at Old Orchard Beach, and two days in Vermont with Cindy Buzzell looking for covered bridges. Becky and Renee Leland got to spend several days with them, also.

The Historical Society serves the area well. People from all over have visited the museum this summer to learn more about the area and see the exhibits. They seem favorably impressed and often comment on how much the society offers for them to see and enjoy. Curator Larry Billings says he tries to do his best for the society and feels other members do, too. This is the attitude he feels helps the society succeed. Norman Vashaw has donated some printers' equipment from the Chase Store to the Museum.

Songo Pond

by Alice Kimball
On our way in town one early evening this week, Norma Salway saw a bear crossing the highway ahead of her in the vicinity of Woodland Cemetery, then closely followed by two cubs.

There have been some gorgeous sunsets recently, especially when they are reflected in the pond.

Last Friday, Norma spent the day with the Bernie Gatchells, who were spending the week on Frye Island.

Mrs. Elmira Doyen, with grandson

Mark Hindman, rode to Hugh and Marge Awalt's cottage on Tacoma Lake. They joined about 30 friends and relatives to help Marge and Hugh celebrate their 30th anniversary.

Danny and Paula Wheeler went to Portland one day this week with their twins, where little Zachary will undergo surgery on his malformed foot at Maine Medical Center.

Mrs. Norma Salway went to Portland Thursday, and with Kassi and Kaity attended the Cumberland Craft Show. One of the craftsmen showing her wares was Mrs. Sandra Caton of Ashland, who creates Native Maine Driftwood Santas. She is a member of several craft and business groups in Maine and exhibits at major trade and consumer shows statewide. Her husband, the Rev. Tom Caton, former Bethel West Parish Congregational Church minister, was with her.

Mrs. Kassi Gatchell and Kaity spent the night here Thursday. On Friday, with "Meema" they visited Storyland in New Hampshire. Bill Bancroft has been undergoing tests this week.

Watch out for temptation -- the more you see of it the better it looks.

Greenwood City

As I looked out at my grounds this morning I wished that I had someone who knew how to use a scythe and could use it to take down my tall grass and bushes. That would improve the looks of things a lot here. There are very few that can use one today. Now it is a machine that does the work. On that thought I recalled the grindstone and the times I turned it while the scythe was being sharpened. Using one was a real art, but along fences, brooks, walls, and around gardens things were made to appear much better. Learning to use a hand scythe required natural skill in addition to training and practice.

I have heard the song of the "swamp angel with its other quality" which sets the thrush aside from all others. It was among the thick trees where its song seemed to harmonize with the sounds of the forest and the whispering breeze; his voice was rich and powerful. A-olee, a vocal expression with melody so pure that one cannot imitate or describe it. Over and over his voice, rich and powerful would swell and die away, as it sang from its leafy perch.

Here and there grew the milkweed, never a favorite with farmers. There are so many of them and they send their seeds far and wide. But summer is a season of milkweed. Their flat-topped buds and creamy-white blossoms tinged with pink grow along roadsides, fences and walls. Their weaving of silk within a pod of protection is a mystery. Nature's shuttle and loom works to maturity. Then inside this seamed pod, which splits open toward fall, is found tightly wrapped lustrous skeins of white silk with overlapped seeds. Each seed has its own parachute which floats away. A wonder of Nature but a pest to the farmer.

A catbird called from the hedge. He is a busybody and full of curiosity. I like him because he talks to me and waits for an answer, but he isn't always polite.

In spite of the heat, there were peace, solitude and beauty.

Ducks quacked their contentment, fireflies dotted the lawn. The molten golden ball in the sky left a spirit of tranquility over the land. Another day was closed.

There were three birthdays to celebrate this last Sunday, Robert's, Jenny's and mine. Fay made three cakes and decorated them so beautifully; one for each of us. The happiest thing for me was that David could be with us. His first outing since his accident.

We all had many cards and gifts, and I had a lovely gift from Milton and Eleanor, a telephone call from them in Alaska. I was so happy to hear their voices.

My sister, Lucy Ridley, came to wish me a happy birthday on Monday. She, too, will have a birthday on Thursday.

Rena Curtis' daughter, Lillian, and Colista of Freeport were here visiting her on the weekend. Some others of the family also visited.

North Newry

Claire Romano of California, her daughter, Michelle Josephson and son Nikalaus of Cumberland, Karlene and Ras Bachelard of North Newry were in Stratton July 31 visiting with Ras' father, Aaron, and sister, Louise, making a five-generation get-together on the father's side this time.

Call to Worship was held at Newry Community Church on Sunday, Aug. 3, at 9 a.m., with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. The Message of the Day was "Come unto me," from St. John 6:35: "I am the Bread of life, he that cometh to me shall never hunger... and he that believeth in me shall never thirst." Communion was taken.

Chelsey Bartlett of Newry is spending a month visiting in Italy and France. She is the guest of the family of Caspar Krogbeivink at his family's summer home in Mareno, Italy. Chelsey is the daughter of Joan and David Bartlett and will be a 10th-grade student at Gould Academy in the fall.

Happy Birthday to Beth Bean on the 14th.

I want to thank my good neighbors for giving me "stuff" from their gardens. I sure appreciate it. It tastes so good to eat fresh food, God bless.

Karlene Bachelard and Gil Seely were guests at a luncheon at the Chili Restaurant in Portland, given by her daughter, Claire, and husband, George Romano. Also to enjoy were Claire's daughter, Michelle, husband, Paul, and little Nik Josephson and a couple of other guests.

The Windy Valleys Sno-Mobile Club met Tuesday night, Aug. 5, at the Hut, with President Owen Wight opening the meeting, and Sylvia Harrington, secretary, reading the notes of the last meeting and taking new ones during the evening. Treasurer Bob Lowell brought the finances up to date. Trailmaster Leon Dunn reported on trail repairs, etc. A new calendar will be available at the next meeting, Sept. 2. The Songo Queen trip was postponed till further notice. Coffee, etc., was enjoyed during the meeting.

Karlene Bachelard, Betsy Clark, Gil Seely and Doris Parent were at Oxford Lanes in Rumford one day last week to bowl for fun. On the overall scores, Gil was high on the singles and triples, but it was a tough climb. On the first string, Betsy beat Doris by three pins; on the second string, Gil made 101; on the third string, Karlene beat Gil by eight pins. But after all the scoring on the triples, Karlene had two spares and one strike, Betsy had three spares, Gil and Doris each had one spare.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson
Hi readers. Don't forget the turkey (and all the fixings) supper at the East Stoneham Church on Thursday, Aug. 14, at 5:30 p.m. This is always a good meal.

Joshua Barnard from Seaford, Va., is visiting his cousins, Matthew and Molly Nelson, for a week or so. Matt and Josh have gone with Kitty Nelson to Cranberry Isle for a few days and will probably attend the little fair there on the island. Kitty is enjoying a vacation from her work at Stephens Memorial Hospital. Summer will be over before we know it. We should all take advantage of it while it's here.

Sharon Traish from Belmont, Mass., was at her cottage at Lake Keewaydin this past weekend, and while here look in the Chicken Barbecue at North Lovell Grange Hall. This is always good, too.

Albert and Eleanor Nelson were at their camp at Wilsons Mills (on Big Brook) this past weekend. An awful lot of logging is going on up there by the camp.

On Sunday, Albert and Dale Nelson and Kitty Nelson, Carolyn Heino and I attended the Ellis River Riders Club Horse Show at

Andover. Molly took several prizes in the contests and got two seconds in the jumping. She and "Jose" did real well, as did all the others. What beautiful and well-trained horses there. I like to hear the horses whinny and talk to each other. Lunches were available at the Feed Bag counter and wagon rides were given to spectators if they so wished. It was a fun day.

Thanks, Marilyn Jones, for tending the church Bake Sale on Saturday. The Thrift Sales will be having a $1-a-bag sale starting Aug. 16. This is clothing of any kind. The book sale is also still on. This is at the East Stoneham Church on Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. If you like a good bargain (and who doesn't?) come on over and see what there is.

The Stan Nelson house is being cleaned up and will be going on the market for sale in the near future. This is a good house on the main road and sits back, and has a nice front-screened porch, attached shed and one-car garage and artisan well. Guess that's all the news for this week. If you have some, please call me.

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wing

I had the pleasure of having a chat with my friend, Evelyn Herrick (Hezzie), at the gas station this week. We always enjoy seeing each other and always have a lot to talk about.

What a great gift from Stephen and Tabitha King for the Woodstock Library. They sure are nice people to do this for small towns. They have given to many organizations through the years.

Kellie and Brad Record are camping this week at the coast. Their girls are with them, also.

The field next to our house is being turned into a housing development. Lloyd Poland purchased the land recently and they have started work on the area already.

Central Maine Power linemen have been busy this week working on replacing lines in this area.

Tommy Poland took her granddaughter, Alex Grover, to breakfast Thursday. Alex spent the night with Tommy. She is 11 years old.

It's hard to believe that summer is almost over. Kids are going school shopping and talking about returning to school. It always goes too fast.

I attended a softball game at West Paris field Sunday afternoon. I hadn't been to a ball game for quite a few years. Linsey and Jenny Record played for the Paris team. I visited with Laurene Appleby and Danielle while I was watching the game. Laurene had relatives who were playing, also. I had a good time, but don't get into it like I used to when my son Rick played baseball.

Larry Billings, curator, Woodstock Historical Society, reports that Ruth Cox and Elaine Roberts watched the museum recently. The society established links to our past and preserves valuable information about it for us to study. The society preserves our Maine and New England heritage. It traces the history of our area and the town of Woodstock.

Quote of the Week: "I've learned that one never realizes how much and how little he knows until he starts talking."

GREENWOOD HISTORICAL

The Greenwood Historical Society met for its meeting on Aug. 6, preceded by a potluck supper on the lawn, with 20 present.

The meeting was presided by Ivan Morey, president, and the secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and accepted.

The building will be open on Saturday, Aug. 16, from 9 to 12 a.m., for visitors. Betty Hollis and Joan Kimball will be in attendance.

Newsletters were passed out by Joan Kimball. She would like more stories for the newsletters.

Margaret Mills will furnish refreshments for the next meeting. No program has been scheduled for that meeting.

This week at the

Moses Mason House

Considerable rain fell on a weekend that from all weather forecasts was supposed to be an ideal time for outdoor events, but most activities took place without disruption at the 17th annual Sudbury Canada Days held Aug. 7-10 in several locations throughout Bethel. The event inspired by Bethel's early name is the Bethel Historical Society's yearly summer heritage festival.

Heading the list of events was Ben Conant's presentation on Rev. Paul Coffin's travels in Oxford County in 1797 on Thursday, Aug. 7. Conant, curator of the Paris Cape Historical Society, described Rev. Coffin's commentary on various towns and their inhabitants. The meeting was held at the historic East Bethel Church, built ca. 1830, near where Rev. Coffin spent the night at Asa Kimball's house (still owned by a descendant, Jay Hastings) 200 years ago this year.

On Friday, Aug. 8, the annual Hall Memorial Lecture was presented this year by Bates College professor, Dr. James Leamon, who spoke on Maine during the American War for Independence in a lecture titled: "Defense of Maine During the American Revolution: Blessed are the Weak."

Saturday, Aug. 9, opened with the encampment of the Ancient Ones, who depict life in the 18th century. During the afternoon, there were a number of craft demonstrations on the grounds of the Dr. Moses Mason House and in the Hastings Homestead barn. The children's parade, with the theme "Mother Goose Characters" resulted in the following prize winners: Lisa Ojeda, prettiest; Noah Goldberg-Bohr, most original; Joshua Mohr, judge's choice; Josh Oliver, most authentic; Ashley Oliver, cleverest. In the old-time games contests, which included sack, three-legged, relay, potato and spoon, and suitcase races all of the following were winners: Noah Goldberg-Bohr, Sarah Swan, Lynde Folsom, Danielle Henley, Michelle Henley, Jessica Henley, Lora Butters, Lisa Ojeda, Danny Ojeda, Josh Oliver, Ashley Oliver, Kyle Butters, and Ashley Brooks. In the ice cream eating contest, Sarah Swan placed first, Michelle Henley and Ashley Oliver tied for second, and Ashley Brooks came in third. All the children's events were under the supervision of Marilyn Swan.

The croquet and badminton tournaments were canceled due to the rain. Winners in the horseshoe pitching tournament included (doubles), first, Dwane Bumps, Hebron, and George Emerson, South Paris; second, Peter Mason, Albany, and Mark Bruno, South Paris; third, Patty Hamlin, Waterford and Steve Estes, Waterford. In the singles, Dwane Bumps, Hebron won first place followed by Arthur Henley, Locke Mills, in second and Wally Hamlin, Waterford, taking third honors.

The flower show, organized by Sue Kettinger and Susan Herlihy, was held in the museum. Historical videos, shown by Marvin Ouwinga and Jack Nordahl, were available to visitors at the Hastings Homestead barn where the annual logging and farming exhibit, hosted by Allan Fraser and Rodney Howe, was held. The horseshoe pitching was supervised this year by Arthur Henley of Locke Mills. Food was served Saturday afternoon by the ladies of West Bethel Union Church's Chapel Aid Society out of the recently refurbished Mt. Zion bottle lunch stand owned by Society Curator of Collections Randall Bennett. Afternoon concerts by the Mahosuc Music Makers and Old Grey Goose were also a popular feature during the afternoon.

During the evening on Saturday, the annual log driver's bean supper was served to nearly 100 and a contra dance was held afterward with Old Grey Goose doing the music and the calling.

On Sunday, the Ancient Ones were still displaying and demonstrating 18th century crafts and skills in the backyard of the Dr. Moses Mason House. A special Sudbury Canada church service was held in the morning. Later in the afternoon there was an open house at the Lower Sunday River Schoolhouse (1895) and finally an old-time hymn sing at the Middle Intervale Meeting House concluded the four-day event.

FINNISH-AMERICAN PICNIC

Sunday, Aug. 17, is the day for the Finnish-American Heritage Society annual picnic at Hebron Pines Campground on Route 124, Hebron, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The usual features of the day are endless cups of coffee along with nisu, gift shop featuring imported Finnish wares, socializing, music, and swimming in the campground's pool.

A special feature this year will be a presentation by Henry Hirvi, president of FINNFEST USA 98, which will be held in Maine next year. There will be FINNFEST items on sale as well.

Everyone who signs in will get a ticket for a chance at the door prize, which will be drawn at 2 p.m., and there will be a raffle for another fine Finnish gift item. Tickets will be on sale.

An incomparable potluck luncheon will be served at 1 p.m., so bring a dish to share or you may do your own picnic lunch. Everyone is welcome.

Hebron Pines is on Route 124. From Auburn take Route 121 to Mechanic Falls and then 124 north. From South Paris take Route 119 to West Minot to Route 124.

SMITH REUNION

The 16th annual Smith Reunion was held Aug. 8, in Fryeburg, with 112 relatives and friends attending from Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Vermont, Pennsylvania and South Carolina.

Bob Witt entertained the group with his special style of music. A potluck lunch was enjoyed, and prizes were awarded as follows: youngest, Mercedes Gurney (3), Mexico; oldest, Ada Harriman (96), Fryeburg; newest married (5 years), Walter and Mary Kimball, Stow; longest married (55 years), John and Violet Fox, Fryeburg; door prize, Andrea Gurney, Mexico; traveled longest distance, Betty Hubbard, South Carolina.

The committee for 1998 will be: secretary, Anne Roberts, Fryeburg; treasurer, Barbara Eastman, Center Conway, N.H.; Ernest Smith, Fryeburg; Evelyn Chaplin, Stow; Joyce Ridlon, Hiram; Evelina Farrington, Lovell.

Next year's reunion will be held at Fryeburg Fairgrounds on Sunday, Aug. 1.

Don't get behind in your child's healthy beginning

Your child's most precious asset is good health — and you can help preserve it.

Young children need lots of love, nutritious food, and guidance to grow up strong and happy. They also need medical attention from the time they are born — including immunizations to prevent serious diseases, like polio, tetanus, hepatitis, measles, mumps, German measles, chicken pox, meningitis, and diphtheria.

Mountain Health Services urges you to develop a relationship with a family doctor or pediatrician for all your child's routine and emergency health needs.
